Bent's Fort Teacher Resource Guide-Secondary

Title / Content Area:	Bent's Fort-US History
Developed by:	Kelly Jones-Wagy
Grade Level:	9-12
Contextual Paragraph	Bent's Fort in southeastern Colorado, built in 1833 by trader and rancher William Bent, was an important trading settlement in the 1830s. Located on the border of Mexico and US territory and in the heart of Native American country, Bent's Fort was a hub of globalism, international trade, and international relations. Although Bent mysteriously destroyed it in 1852, the fort was rebuilt in 1976 and is now a National Historic Landmark. Bent's Fort does not typically align with high school curriculum; however, it is an excellent introduction to the Sand Creek Massacre and Manifest Destiny. The Sand Creek Massacre took place on November 29, 1864, in southeastern Colorado. Colonel John Chivington (the hero of the Civil War Battle of Glorieta Pass) attacked an American Indian encampment made up largely of women and children from the Cheyenne and Arapaho tribes. About 200 people were killed in the attack, and Chivington paraded body parts of the dead along the streets of Denver. In 1865 Congress led an investigation into the massacre, but Chivington never faced charges for his role. In addition to its connections to the events at Sand Creek, Bent's Fort helped open up the American western frontier to settlement. It helped America bring forward the concept of Manifest Destiny.

Foundations Annotations

Curriculum Connections

- US History-Westward Expansion and American Indian Wars

Curriculum Standards

Colorado State Standards:

History 1. Use the historical method of inquiry to ask questions, evaluate primary and secondary sources, critically analyze and interpret data, and develop interpretations defended by evidence.

- a. Evaluate a historical source for point of view and historical context
- b. Gather and analyze historical information, including contradictory data, from a variety of primary and secondary sources, including sources located on the Internet, to support or reject hypotheses

History 2. The key concepts of continuity and change, cause and effect, complexity, unity and diversity over time

h. Examine and evaluate issues of unity and diversity from Reconstruction to present. Topics to include but not limited to the rise and fall of Jim Crow, role of patriotism, and the role of religion

Inquiry Activities & Strategies

Sand Creek Massacre

- Have students compare the map of the Treaty of Fort Laramie to the Treaty of 1851 and the Treaty of 1861 to determine the massive changes in the land provided to the Arapaho and Cheyenne tribes
- Why does the United States government keep changing the location and amount of land provided to the tribes?
- Analyze the different reports of what happened at the Sand Creek Massacre. Why would there be so many different stories? What do they think is the truth?

Westward Expansion

- Analyze “American Progress” for perspective and the impressions Americans would have had about the western portion of the country.
- What types of people migrated westward and why?

- Inquiry questions:
  - How did the change in American perspective about the western frontier change from 1833-1890? (can specify information about American Indians, Buffalo, Railroads, Cowboys, Settlement)
  - What geographic reasons would Americans settlers have used to determine what land they should settle?
  - Why are there so many conflicting reports about the Sand Creek Massacre?
  - Why did the Native Tribes believe they would be safe at Sand Creek? (use the photograph from the White House, the Treaty of Fort Laramie 1861, and the maps of the territory granted to the tribes to drive student inquiry)
  - How did Bent’s Fort, and others like it, open up the western half of the country to settlement?
