The Collaborative Inc.
SHistoric Materials Analysis
TCI maintains one of the few private laboratories in the United States for the evaluation of historic mortar and plaster constituents, and the match of paint layers to the Munsell System of color notation. The firm has completed laboratory analysis of historic materials for private agencies, federal and state governments, historical societies, and private individuals since 1979.
This evaluation of historic materials lets TCI provide critical data for the specification of historically appropriate replacement materials. Original Paint Schemes: Appropriate masonry mortar and daubing mixes to match the original mix of mortars
Testing Programs: Clients include the NPS and other federal agencies, state historical societies, local governments, and private individuals and non-profits, such as the Molly Brown House, the Elbow Reef Lighthouse Preservation Society, and the Engel House for the Rico Historic Society.
