

2022 CAROLINE BANCROFT HISTORY PROJECT AWARD JOSEPHINE H. MILES HISTORY AWARD

Colorado journalist Caroline Bancroft and Colorado native Josephine H. Miles each generously provided monetary awards to be given annually by History Colorado to the individual, organization, or museum in a municipality of Colorado which has made a major contribution during the year to the advancement of Colorado history. The awards recognize accomplishments; they are not grant programs.

The Caroline Bancroft History Project Award is designated for communities with a population of less than 50,000. The monetary prize awarded is $1000. The Josephine H. Miles History Award may go to a project in any size community. The monetary prize includes a $1000 award and a $500 honorary award.

Caroline Bancroft History Project Award Guidelines

1. The applicant can be an individual, organization, or museum in a Colorado municipality with a population of less than 50,000. The monetary prize awarded is $1000.
2. Any project, program, or effort, including one that is ongoing, that has made a great contribution in the prior year to the advancement of Colorado history will be eligible. To qualify for the 2022 award, the project must have occurred and been completed or presented between August 1, 2021 and May 1, 2022. The Award recognizes accomplishments related to Colorado history. As a guide, nominations may include one of the following or any combination thereof:
 - Education: programs or initiatives that increase public awareness and understanding of Colorado history, such as lectures, public events, or K-12 education programs.
 - Exhibits: an exhibit, which is open to the public, highlighting an aspect of Colorado history.
 - Collections Management: preserving and providing access to historic collection materials through activities such as cataloguing and conservation.
 - Research: publicly accessible original research that expands knowledge and/or interpretation of Colorado history or encourages scholarship.
 - Historic Preservation: the preservation, restoration, stabilization, or rehabilitation of a significant historic structure or property or the creation of a local historic preservation ordinance or preservation plan.
 - Publications: print publications such as books and periodicals and/or visual media including a website and film that expands understanding of Colorado history.

Josephine H. Miles History Guidelines

Eligibility for the Miles Award is the same as for the Bancroft with these exceptions:

- A project from any size community is eligible.
- The monetary prize includes a $1000 award and a $500 honorary award, given to two different recipients.

Nomination Procedure

1. Submissions must be postmarked by June 1, 2022. Please submit the nomination form and supporting documentation to:

History Colorado
Stephen H. Hart Research Center
1200 Broadway, Denver, CO 80203

OR

E-mail: curator@state.co.us

2. If you are submitting electronically please put “2022 Miles & Bancroft Awards Nomination” in the subject line.
3. The nomination may be for a single project or for an organization as a whole.
4. Self nominations are encouraged and you may submit a single nomination packet for both awards (if eligible).
5. Ensure that the application form is completely filled out, and includes a full written description of your project as instructed on the form.
6. Include a completed W-9 form with your application. This will ensure that any award money can be sent in a timely fashion.
7. The information you provide with the nomination form is the only additional material reviewers will have to evaluate the nomination, so including documentation sufficient to support and demonstrate the quality of the project is important.

For example: if you nominate an exhibit project, you might want to include exhibit images and copies of the interpretive labels and text. Please keep in mind, the supporting documentation will not be returned to you.

8. Award winners will be announced August 1, 2022.

Evaluation Criteria for the program, project, or effort:

1. How has it expanded or furthered knowledge of Colorado history?
2. Is the project placed within the larger context of Colorado history?
3. Does it stimulate public interest or involvement in history?
4. How did your project contribute to and/or involve your community?
5. Does the project foster interest in Colorado history in an original or creative way?

Questions to consider when describing your entry:

1. What inspired the project? What was the need for it, and why did you pursue it?
2. What were the goals and objectives of your project or initiative? How did you meet them?
3. How did this project develop over the course of its implementation?
4. Who was involved in the project?
5. Who was this project for? Did you have a target audience?
6. What was the final outcome and impact?
7. What distinguishes your entry in advancing understanding of Colorado history?
